modity the bodies GOD at AND DOUR COUNTRY. Tot delies out to solbri a ni poission bon befrath

we bulleye, would add justre querinotion vestem

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 27, 1872.

and, forsouth, instead of resombling a

Soudan goose, he looks in his frogged jacket and gold aiglets a very smart

FOLUME 6 Pilings willings

THE ORANGEBURG NEW

PUBLISHED AT ORANGEBURG Every Saturday Morning.

GRANGEBURG NEWS COMPANY

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. Any one sending TEN DOLLARS, for a space of New Subscribers, will receive an LINA COFF for ONE YEAR, free of charge. Any one sending FIVE DOLLARS, For a Club of New Subscribers, will receive

RATES OF ADVERTISING. tada Square consists of 10 lines Brevier or inch of Advertising space. Centract Advertisements inserted upon the

MARRIAGE and FUNERAL NOTICES t expecting one Square, inserted without Adjourned participation

Terms Cash in Advance. To

Browning & Browning. ATTORNEYS AT LAW. DERNGEBURG C. H., So. Ca. MALCOLN L. BROWNING.

AUGUSTUS B. KNOWLTON

(Formerty of the New York Bar.) ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW,

PONTANGEBURG, S. C. W. L. W. RILEY

TRIAL JUSTICE, Menidence to Fork of Edisto, ALL BUSINESS ENTRUSTED will promptly and earefully attended to. interjely 28 ch. by said at the little

O & SURGEON DENTIST, Graduate Baltimore College

Dental Surgery. OFFICE MARKET ST. OVER STORE OF

weet, and at the shortest notice B. RIGGS, Carriage Manufacturer

REEDER & DAVIS STRIAT .SCOTTON FACTORS

WOODER WISDOM General Commission Merchants. dead sair way Adger's Whar,

CHARLESTON, S. C.

H. C. Hungins. BRODIE & CO. I TAKE COTTON FACTORS

COMMISSION MERCHANTS. NORTH ATLANTIC WHARF, CHARESTON, S. C.

Liberal Advances made on Consignment. Ist National Bank, Charleston, D. C.

Mrs. M. W. Stratton

GERVAIS & ASSEMBLY STREET or more of COLUMN TO BE C. looks us if it were going to snap: "Good! more than one trip such as this since he Tender and True.

- Orangeburg County He stole from its nest in my golden hair He placed on my hand a jewel rare, And whispered soft, as he held it there-Tender and true-adlen, adieu!

The alu end was bending with blossoms white The roses blushed through the dew ; The violet smiled in the glowing light, And life was happy, and hope was bright, Tender and true-adieu, adiou!

They brought my soldier home to me, And my knot of riband blue; But the cruel wound on the braw was hid By the flag dropped over the coffin lid. Tender and true-adieu, adieu !

The almond flowers in the breezes shake, The roses still blush through the dew But the spring time of hope will never awake, And the lone, lone heart will wail till it break Tender and true-adieu, adieu!

Dasan Latin of Honorule V Sale.

Capt Spadasse, of the staff, has taken time reluctantly promises, and with eyes agreed upon -a sequestered nook of offence at this comparison, and M Tar. fixed on the fireplace, where the embers wood, which really for cutting a man's apology, has from the simple fact of the sleep of the just.

fair of honor," and I me W A nothing can prevent his extending his young centleman. A military surgeon Cigare; Capt. Spadasse's, Lieut. de it is meant to be encouraging, he says, some ceremonious bowing all round, and Pierrafen and Viscount de Caracole, "You'll do." There is a controversy then for form's sake the har seconds both of the staff. Capt. Spadasse being among doctors as to the best thing to advance and confer, with every appearhad M. Tartine any right to take the shoulders? M. Soupeaulait contends is just the optortunity he had long been awaiting of getting into public notice. He thinks binself ill-used. M. Tartine. on the other hand, argues that the para graph baring been signed with a nom de plume, and not with M. Sonpenulait's real name, the responsibility of it Preted Spadasse's expostulations, it is reques M. Parting a claims to be sound and all counts nomented the plaintiff. This has been a great grief to M. Sospeaulait. ustom of the combatants to spend a

Tarting makes such a scientific thrust Plumenu's knees, wink to each other that his foil bends like a half circle, and and smile; and a ragman, who has seen which, says he, have done a pretty graph as much as any man, and shall amount of bleeding in their day M. certainly as soon as ever the duel is Tartine knows them for old friends, and over say so. "Why not say it before de Linea. Then he dresres, strolls home this M. Tartine replies at once with great with his friends, lingering just long energy, "Never?" thus proclaiming his enough on the way to take a glass of adherence to those time hallowed prinvermouth, and once home is for sitting ciples of honor which permit a man to A writer in the Charte har stated down and wri ing his next day's chroni- declare himself in the grong once he that with their new beturred lackets que, but that his friend protest with has run his adversary through the body. their vermilion kepis, and their red evergy and indignation, forcing him to but on no account before that M. Tartrousers, the officers of the French staff go to bed on the spot, and exacting the tine is still dilating on this subject when rescuble the foundan goose, a red-legged most sclemn pledge that he will not get the cab begins to slacken speed; then it bird, with a ruff and a rrimson bill up again when they are gone. M. Tar turns, and finally stops at the place

tine, who, loving the army, would at of a fire of beech logs are dying out, throat, or having one's own cut, is as any other moment have tendered an socn after falls into slumber and sleeps filling the editorial chair for a day, and The winter morning is breaking gray by just four minutes; bu the officers being out of temper during his to nure by over Paris, when the two triends reof office, indorsed his brother journalist's appear on the morrow with a roomy cab | pointment is concerned, to mobody has libel, and declared himself personally and a surgeon. The surgeon is the any reason to blush. Capt. Spadasse is responsible. Accordingly Capt. Spadasse lamping feature of these episodes. He in plain clothes, so is Lieut de Pierrafeu. libel, and declared himself personally and a surgeon. The surgeon is the and M. Tartine, are going to try and scans you, appears to weigh mentally but Viscouns de Carneole, being on duty run each other through with foils at how much blood there is in your veins, that day with his chief, is it uniform, half-past eight c'clock in the morning in and reveals by the bulginess of his coatthe Wood of Vincennes. This is what tails that he has brought an instrument in civilized countries is termed "an case with him. Then in shaking hands M. Tartine's two friends are M.J. forefinger so as to touch your pulse and Plumeau and de Linea, both of the in a voice that sounds knell-like, though | uniform, and wears spectails. There is the insulted part, has had the choice of drink before starting; some say black ance of gravity, as to whether a reconweapons, and has selected foils, because coffee, others brandy and water, others ciliation is not possible; during this he is a good forcer; M. Tartine, who is nothing at all. M. Tartine's surgeon colloquy the military surgeon, a man of also a good fencer, as every Parisian suggests coffee for the patient-that is journalist need be, is rejoiced at this the combatant-and the other mixture lays it on the grass. Of course a reconselection. The prospect of the duel has for the rest of the company; also smoke ciliation is not possible. Capt. Spadasse caused some excitement at the Cigare for everybody except M. Tartine, who is could over-look the goose allusion, but new to that most respected organ, but dresses, M. Plameau makes coffee with because a delicate question has arisen a spirit-of-wine lamp, M. Lines mixes offensive to the whole service, and blood which the editor slove was quite competone third of pale cognac, to two thirds shed is alsolutely necessary. Capt. tent to solve, and has solved. The quest of aq pur., and the surgeon helps him. Spadasse has even stripped himself of tion was this: Considering that the self to trabuers. All this is done quick- his coat and waistcoat while his seconds paragraph about the Soudan goose was ly though for the Wood of Vincennes is are conferring; seeing which, M. Tarnot written by M. Tartine, but by M. Fate's own distance away, and there is a tine immediately follows suit, and also Rector Soupeanlait, aged twenty-two, very pardonable wish on the part of the whole circle to be first on the ground, glorious consequences of it on his own M. Tartine is soon dressed; and the surgeon takes this opportunity of drawing mains but to feel under their shirts to no. He has never yet fought a duel. M. Plumeau aside and asking whether see that they wear no breast-plates (a and this brush with an officer of the staff a little sal-volatile would not be-but humiliating formality, but customary.) the look M. Plumeau casts him is so laden with strong protest on behalf of formalities being accomplished, there is his friend, that the surgeon mumbles an "I beg pardon," and concludes that de- who are looking on at the scene from cidedly this M. Turtine is not a man to their boxes, appear for the first time to be apprehensive about. In a few more feel uncomfortable. Not so, however, nineteen out of twenty stables through minutes everything is ready, the coffee the seconds. Whether it be that artistic with the acting editor; and that further, is sipped, said the brandy and water murder has less terrors for them, or that the dust having resulted much less from gulped; M. Tartine obtains, after a they intuitively feel that there is nothing the paragraph itself than from the tone little pleading, permission to light a very terrible going to happen, they all adopted by M. Tartine in answering M. cigar like the rest, on the ground that maintain a countenance of philosophical it is invariable custom so to do; and placidity-and, to tell the truth, when tionably upon him that the honor f the then, walking on tiptoe so as to wake as the word is given and the principals meeting devolves. The editor, viewing few as possible of the other lodgers, the longage, the indifference of these abetters the case with an equal eye, has admitted whole party stalks, stealthy and cloud- becomes to a certain extent justified. to him a d, down the smire. O course | Capt. Spadasse, who has his plans for proper exercise of the muscles of the cabman sees at a glance on what this winter's amusement, has no wish to Proparatory to a duet it is the usual tores break into a smile, for he likes slaying M. Tartine, and this pre-occupathis blod of fare, well knowing that, tion reveals itself in his studied care to whours with their respective fencing, whichever way the chance turns, his masters : M. Turtine has not disdained day's receipts will be the better for it, side M. Tartine would rather learn whole the practice, and, though an old hand in duellists being generous for good luck. page of the Journal Official by Heart this sori of business, he has listened Two nags compose his team, and he no painless labor - than do serious with this wented deterence to the coun whips them into a race trot. The early harm to Capt. Spadasse, and his chief sets about keeping one's eye steady, one's baker, with basket on his back and yards aim is only to give such a thrust as shall wrist firm, and one's body well thrown of bread tapering out like the masts of rip open two inches of his enemy's shirt. thicker and higher on that side." The back. "Now, then, lunge !" roars out a ship, turns round on the pavement to the fencing master, and M. Tartine look; the milk-woman in her donkey lunges. "Yes, that's it, but make rather cart, with bright the pails around her, WASHINGTON HOUSE rese play with your elbow; the mistake gets bracily out of the way, and clamors bout civilians is that they don't bulieve remonstrances; a pair of night policeenough in the wrist, and the wrist's men waiting at a street corner to be every thing," says the F. M. Now, relieved notice the baise covering of the then, lunge spain;" and this time M | folls held fishing rod wise between M.

fore he can break he is spotted just Bastille is reached; in another ten with the thud of a sword-hilt against ly as any other horse. She is a little . Compo where the right lung works. He laughs, minutes the Raubourg St. Antoine, the lifth rib, and a paric stricken de- vicious, and we will take her in hand "If my autagonist were as prompt as metropolia of cabinet makers, is cleared : mand for a hurdle to carry home the when convenient if you wish." Princess A good cat is you, I should make my will to-night." and, breasting with undiminished vigor dead body upon. Happily, in M. Tarlooked at me with suspicion, but I soon eyes, a tail, see he tine's case, however, all such gloomy made her lailyship submit to a cares. and s leg time's case, however, all such gloomy made her lailyship submit to a cares. and s leg time's case, however, all such gloomy made her lailyship submit to a cares. and s leg time's case, however, all such gloomy made her lailyship submit to a cares. cles to do. This is how I class the arm; cennes, the two cab horses make the pass, the captain, growing tired of it, ful handling and a little watching to Staff, injuntry, light cavalry, engineers, best of their way toward the donjon tales states; M. Tartine parties; the capprevent a stap judgment in the way of the average cavalry, artillery. Your Capt. keep, which has served as a State prison tale stamps his foot and tries again; M. a kick. The next horse shown me was Spadasse is a tough man; I know him; in former times, and will be doubt do so Tartine responds; but somehow the a bay, four years old, named Startle, but never mind that, keep your eye to again, an it please Heaven. During swords in the medley become entangled the front, and I answer for you." With this while the conversation inside the and both thrust together - with this this blessing M. Tartine takes off his cab has turned on the weather. Which is result, that the captain's shirt-sieeve gets mask, while the fencing master wraps fine, on the springs of the cab, -which ripped open as if with a pair of scissors, up is baise a pair of deft-looking weap- are less so,—and on the paragraph, and M. Tartine loses a piece of his own one, which he kindly loads out to his cause of the impending strife. M. Tar- shirt-front just near the collar-bone. pupils on occasions like the present, and time declares that he regrets this para. This is enough for all the exigencies of the case. The four seconds busily interfere to staunch the blood. Each man has a wound the tenth of an inch deep consigns them to MM Plumeau and the duel?" asks the surgeon. But to sud about three inches long, something like a good pin scratch. The surgeous harry to the fore with lint and colledion: and it is unanimously declared that the honor of all concerned is satisfied. breakfasting together like gallant rivals in the chief hotel of Vincennes. "And now will you tell me," laughs Capt. Spadasse, as he belps M. Tartine

o Chablis, "why you all us Practo-"Bah !" smiles M. Tartine, "the artipleasant a locality as need be. The it was. When I read it in print I literary party have preceded the military thought I was dreaming." "Dreaming about the Soudan," interare in excellent time so far as the aposes M. de Caracole, laughing in his use our small influence with the governer to get the interdict on the Cigare "I never doubted the generosity of the army," says M. Turtine, bowing. "Nor we the loyalty of the press," answers Capt. Spadasse, returning the who accompanies the officers is also in "Perhaps it would have been as logical if all these explanations had taken place yesterday instead of to-day," cuts in the civilian surgoon onec again, with advance and confer, with every appear- a shrug.

"Pardon me, dear colleague," rejoins the military one politely, "the laws of honor are not things to be lightly set method, opens his instrument-case and aside."-Pall Mall Gazette.

A Palace for Morses, headed "Prestorianism," which is most feet adaptation and taste. Truly a palace would be a more appropriate name for so perfect and expensive a stable. Five large stells on each side of a wide alley: the divisions are about six feet high, with an iron railing extending around the top, completely isolating each occupant from the others, as well as from casts off his boo's because of the slippery the gaze of visitors. As the door turf. Another minute, and the combatants are face to face : then nothing reopen to admit Joe Elliot to his stall. notice there is no manger; the hav eaten from the floor. In one corner an iron receptacle for feeding grain. I is low, very simple, and convenient. and to hand them each a foil, which The nearer nature is imitated the better. a moment's pause, and the two cabmen, That I knew and often advised. There is more economy and less trouble to feed from a manger than from a rack, yet in the country, the manger will be found so high and extending so far out over the head that a horse of ordinary size most reach up to eat his hay, and in so doing sifts the seed and dust from it unon his head and eves. Nature has designed the borse to eat his food from the ground, else the pasturage would be raised to a level with his head. The forelegs and shoulders requires this, and sort of errand he is going; and his fea- be placed under arrest for a month for a neglect of it is often the cause of w. k knees. While looking at the floor. Mr Bonner anticipated my inquiry, by saykeep on guard instead of attacking. On his ling: "The floor is made up by a series of slats, with spaces between large chough to allow the passage of water. Beneath there is , water-tight floor, with a pitch of two inches on one side for drainage, with the false flooring just that much extra flooring is see constructed in two sleeve, with perhaps half an inch of skin beyond it. Animated by these mutually sections that it can be raised from the centre both ways, and placed on edge considerate thoughts, the two fighters made a defensive show of it. They feist, when removing the accumulation of recover, clink, break, and in a general objectionable matter beneath. At this way try to look us if they meant busiplishing it. The only objection to this lasts too long, and both swordsmen disgover each other's strength, they are apt one of the finest modeled horses of his age I ever saw, and from present acounts is the coming horse; he has already made the fastest time on record by horse of his age.

said Mr. Bouner, calling my attention to the various points constituting a great trotter; and so thoroughly does he seem to have studied the points necessary for speed and endurance that, I am convinced, he could at a glance select a trotter from a large drove. The next horse shown me was the peerless Dexter. Many a man, or woman either, would, house yesterday, and sat down will An hour later the whole party are I imagine, feel it an honor to caress this new trousers in a chair fall of reakfasting together like gallant rivals greatest of horses, but like a true king, cats. He spiled em bad. greatest of horses, but like a true king, s he is, he will not permit familiarity from a stranger; yet towards his master he seems to evince the greatest affection, following him with the docility of the most gentle pet, while at the approach of others he shows instant resentment. runs, but not so tasy as weat. That is tle wasn't mine, and I don't know whose Intending to renew my visit to the stable next morning, I was now conducted by Mr. Bonner to his private resi dence. Seated in his library, the topic of his conversation became that of prices turn, and he instantly adds, "We will paid. I am able to give the prices paid for the following named horseer	lin n

Pelter	33,00
Pocahontas	35,00
Lantern	8,00
Ed. Everett,	20,00
Lady Palmer
Peerless	5.50
Bruno	15,00
Jee Elliot	10,00
Flatbush Maid	4,00
Membrino Bertie, about (Mr. Be	on-ser's words)	12,00
THE RESERVE AND ADDRESS OF THE PROPERTY OF THE	May The Chief

The stable, and ground upon which built must have cost at least one hundred thousand dollars, making an aggregate of the handsome amount of a quarter of a million of dollars .- Herald of Health.

dent Hopkins, of Williams College, thoroughly good and greatly loved, and he is a stately and dignified old gentleman withal. All these excellent qualities added a quaint effect of contrast to the suddenness of the following answer which the worthy president once received and which il ustrates the principle that "ridicule is the test of truth." In the railroad cars one day the President descried one of his students; a youth of regrettable habits in point of dissipation, and wearing at that moment the aggard and dishevelled looks of one not yet over the effects of a debauch Stepping up to the young man, looking nim sternly yet sadly in the face, the President said, in a deep and impressive

"Been on a drunk!" "So have I," was the answer.

A Jewish Rubbi in Richmond writes he Dispatch that the lightning rod of our times was known in the thirteenth century and quotes from a work extent in 1291 the following: "If you want to prevent the thunders from destroying cour eastle then put on the most wire, and it will be saved." But more remarks ble is this about the telegraph, which a Jewish crile from Spain in 1302 wrote: "We have a good proof (for an invisible connection) in the magnet stone. If you break this stone into two parts (positive and regative), and you lay one part che side and the other on the other side, even though they are separated thousands of miles, but connected by (a wire of) iron, then every

John Quincy Adams has twice run as time my attention was called to the the Beinderstin andidate for Governor ness to any extent - without accom- occupants of sente of the other stalls of idusantiments. "My son," said once "Here," mid Bonner," is Princes, Flora his father, Charles Francis Adams, "do form of augling is this; if the feinting Temple's greatest competitor. When I you think you know arough to be Gov. bought her, a short true ago, and placed opported Massachusettill" "I probably A gentlemen from Landon eries the muster, but rather too good; has plied his small-how avocations in to get excited, and to make a vanity a foundered horse. This I knew was the witty som if that thrust were parried you'd be off Paris, waves his crook as though to say, question us to who shall draw the first the effect of contraction and had sheeing moment; "ealf berg son ors earl in but are not no sweet cana huckleberry dumplings are Pather steam a store pipe hat a day, and Aunt Polly had tw mer A black cat don't Squills will make a cat hum, pentine is better for the hair, out her thumb on a flat iron as to the cat. Then father wallop I fan behind the hen-coop ar The new minister can red pig to play with I'd lend you Sunday school book. Cat has a le her mouth. Mother's lan and ... Midyou ever see a cat hold a box of pills o all I know of her, I to you reafform and mildel of vite Tuonas Shreet

THE DOLLY VARDEN .- Mich had been said of the Dolly Varden, style of dress and yet not much is known about it. For the benefit of the cu give a Philadelphia husband's tion of the figure made by his wife the "style":

the end of her tail? Is A westing a

"It is a dress with sunflow cabbages and pumpkills worked all o for a back-ground. Why it is to give a man the delirium tremer look at it. Who ever saw such a par It's flash wall paper run into Nilston, in addicination of leaving the stage; is investing in railroads. Most of the compleitors of the G of Boston, are wonien would see Cau a watch be said to be perfe dry when it has a ransing spring i

Agassis has found out that the trilly-bites are not related to the physic and That may be lucky for the p Out in California; a lawyer who defends a criminal for four street car tickets is called a stryctor.

When a New Jersey cromen drops dead, they jackknife her correct strings; and she comes to life again. A Green Bay man Was mean eno to clope with the only school toucher in the town, thus shutting up the school.

The last sensation novel is, we hear; to be cutified "The Polismed Gum Drop; or, The Candy Woman's Reventer." A crazy man at Elko, California recently swallowed a twenty dollar gold piece, a couple of fers, a few ailver, del lars and a fancy necktie. A Gate City lawyer included in his bill against his client: "To waking up in the night and thinking about your What is the love of resident revisity man? A vagrant stream, that dallier with each flower on its bank then passes on and leaves them all in tears The epitaphs of most men might re-as o was pora; no toiled and worfled for food, alothing, and equipage; he sought the phantom, happiness he died." Very intimate relations exist between the sun and digestion ... Digestion and assimilation become weak and imporfect ifthe our oranimal is not daily to the direct rays of the age of

"John " exemined Mary, throwing her aims around her brothers neek, "what rubstitute can these be for the endearments of a sister?" endearments of a sister." "Vell." said John, "you'see, Els, shat depends movement which you make ou one side will be visible on the other in the same ou whose sister it is

In Poughkeepsie a dry goods clers who has summer saved from drowning the cook of a small book, has received a letter from her father stating that "a ye saved the gal, she's yourn." The clerk demure.

her under my treatment, and moved like shall by this time I am elected," replied making a return of his income to the a foundered horse. This I knew was the witty some the state of contraction and had shooting. Bounders received at Reasonable for the Correctness of my judgment, as good and twenty minutes after starting the received at Reasonable for the correctness of my judgment, as you and twenty minutes after starting the received at Reasonable for the correctness of my judgment, as you and twenty minutes after starting the received at Reasonable for the correctness of my judgment, as you the correctness of my judgment, as you the most benevolent dispositions on either side has ended abruptly see she now moves as freely and natural with patience.